MBB Fertigungstechnik establishes subsidiary in China

- Production in China to gain additional market share
- Positive business performance expected to continue

Berlin, 4 June 2013 – MBB Industries AG (ISIN DE000A0ETBQ4), a family-owned, medium-sized corporation, plans to significantly expand its subsidiary MBB Fertigungstechnik GmbH's business in China. For this purpose, the subsidiary MBB Technologies (China) Ltd. is to be established in Changzhou, a large metropolitan city in Eastern China. The company is expected to start operations already this year and will expand to around 40 employees in the coming year.

As one of the leading international mechanical engineering firms specialising in welding and assembly systems for the automotive industry, MBB Fertigungstechnik already generates around 20% of its revenues in China. Its customer base includes renowned German automotive manufacturers as well as Chinese companies. In establishing local production, MBB Fertigungstechnik wishes to better take advantage of the growth potential the region offers due to automation requirements, while also expanding its service business. The expansion in China is therefore also expected to bring additional growth for the German location, where high-end products will still be manufactured. MBB Fertigungstechnik expects further business performance to be correspondingly positive.
